CARE OF SILK.

For Delicate Shading Begin at the Base and Gradually Work tpward.

Never knot your silk, for it causes the work when finished to have a rough appearance. Fosten the thread by rumning it in the cloth or sewing it over on some portion of the material that is to be covered by the work. In finishing up a needleful of silk, fasten it in the same way, always clipping the silk short, clae it will work to the surface and give it a ragged appearance. Never bite silk, as it pulls and causes a drawn look.

Working a leaf or petal. The leaf or petal which laps over should be worked first. Begin at the base of the leaf or petal, and after making a line of stitches up the center, work to the right until the right haif is finished; then going back to the base again, work to the left until the other half is completed. If the work calls for delicate shading, begin at the base and gradually work upward on the whole leaf or petal until completed. Put veins in last over the finished leaf. Pad the leaf with white cotton yarn. Base and Gradually Work Upward.

FOR DROOPING SHOULDERS.

Five Minutes' Walk With a Book on the Head Will Be Found Beneficial Growing girls who are tall for their age Growing girls who are tall for their age frequently allow the shoulders to droop forward and thus contract the stooping habit. This tendency should be corrected the first time it is observed. Braces will rather injure the child, for we reason that they prevent the exercise of those muscles which should be trained to produce an erect carriags. High pillows and soft mattresses should be avoided, a flat, hard bed, with low pillow, being preferable for a growing with a book on the head is of great beneat if placticed daily.

Further Use of His Name. Carbondale, Ill., May 32-In a letter which next Tuesday. He gives as his reason the following:

It is not wise or good politics to nominate a candidate for the Legislature and also a candidate for Congress from Union County, and since a candidate for the Legislature has been numinated from this county, a candidate for Congress should come from some other county. Moreover, I have not planned a race for Congress with the idea that there would be two Democratic candidates for the Legislature from this sentence of the conditions now obtaining. I shall not embarrais the further consideration of my name as a candidate for the nomination for Congress, and under the circumstances cannot accept the ominination if tendered me.

The situation in the district is therefore. dered me.

The situation in the district is therefore very much complicated, with the probability of a fight for the nomination in the convention never before known in the district. Fur names are very prominently spoken of in connection with the nomination: Reed Green and John Hodge of Cairo; David Huggins and W. H. Warder of Madison.
